Eclipse Of The Sun 21st. September

Scientists From All Over World, Gather To Study It

Leading astronomers from all parts of the world, many of whom have travelled many thousands of miles, have now assembled on the north west coast of Australia to observe and study the phenomena of the Eclipse of the Sun which occurs on 21st. September when the Moon passes between the Earth and the Sun.

Professor A. Chand, professor of astronomy at the University of Toronto and Dr. R.K. Young, astronomer in the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, B.C., are leading a Canadian delegation which will make observations during the few brief minutes of the eclipse. They arrived at their destination in the latter part of July. The chief instrument Professor Chand has taken is a camera with a lens of six inches aperture and a focus of eleven feet mounted equatorially like a telescope and driven by an astronomical clock.

Great interest is being taken in the Eclipse this year owing to the opportunity presented to obtain conclusive evidence either for or against what is known as the Einstein theory of relativity.

By the aid of the specially constructed telescope it will also be possible to study the corona, the remarkable solar appendage of nearly white color extending out some 200,000 or 300,000 miles which can be seen only when the sun is completely hidden by the moon.

Don't Squeeze

The failure to organize a Wheat Board to assume full charge of the marketing of this season's grain crop in Western Canada leaves the situation this year much the same as a year ago when a slump in prices took place as soon as the grain began to be placed on the market. Fall in prices was so great, comparatively speaking, that it made thousands of instances of financial loss and to bring the selling price actually below the cost of production. Notwithstanding a fairly good yield in many parts of the West last year farmers sustained financial losses.

Now with the 1920 wheat crop about to be marketed, and with the best crop in ten years of 1915 to be sold, it's of the utmost importance that this huge volume of wheat should not be forced on the market at once, the inevitable result of which would be to cause a "break" in prices that would be disastrous and spell ruin to many people.

But, in the absence of a board to regulate production and control the marketing of grain by ten or more of the principal grain farmers. These farmers have contracted debts they must pay and are anxious to pay. The Fall and early Winter months, following the harvest, is the period for the liquidation of liabilities.

Banks, mortgage companies, implement companies and lumber dealers all expect payment on the farm in 1920. They wait for the fall and each and every producer will be required to "collect." The wholesaler and jobber who has extended credit to merchants on the strength of the credit the merchant has given to farmers makes demand for his money, thus leaving the merchant no option but to press the farmer. And the wholesaler is in turn compelled to make demands on the farmer until he can get his notes. And here comes the manufacturer. The bank which advanced large loans to enable him to keep his factory busy and his men employed during the season when little ready money was coming in. The banks, too, have made advances not only to the manufacturers, but all down the line of wholesalers, jobbers, merchants and farmers, and have financed mortgages on their homes upon which they could not collect even interest in many cases not to mention principal and some.

Everybody will recognize, of course, that the banks cannot go on indefinitely advancing money on loans unless such loans are repaid and periodically there is a general liquidation of outstanding liabilities. Only so can banks and their depositors of depositors be safeguarded, and the financial stability of the country is maintained.

While fully realizing these things there is a factor in the present situation that must be taken into account if irreparable loss is not to be inflicted on the farmer alone, but upon every national interest, the banks and others large and small, industrial and financial.

This season's Western crop should be a debt reducing crop. Rightly handled it will accomplish that purpose in large measure. The fact must be appreciated, however, that one good crop will not offset the liabilities incurred during four or five years of poor crops or no crops at all. And if the pressure to secure a good crop is applied to the farmer he will be compelled far more to sacrifice their grain rapidly. It is therefore the farmer who will be glutted if prices will fall below a figure where any profit is left for the farmer. If the farmer derives no profit from his year's labor, and but barely succeeds in covering the costs of production, there will be nothing, whatsoever to reward the honest and decent farmer.

In view of shortcomings in attempts at debt collection when forced on the market beyond the ability of the market to absorb and a bad break in prices results, the farmers' profits will disappear and with the disappearance of those profits his ability to pay his debts. Failure on the part of the farmer to meet his obligations on the part of the wholesaler, manufacturer and bank and ultimately on the part of the whole nation.

It, therefore, is not in the interests of the farmer alone that every effort should be made, and every device provided, to render unnecessary the dumping of the crop on the market immediately following threshing. It is as much in the interest of the Eastern manufacturers that it is in the interest of the West. We want to see when prices are maintained. It is likewise in the interest of the city artisan and laborer. Cheap wheat might result in a slight lowering in the cost of bread, but a few cents less for bread would not compensate for loss of employment due to a slowing up or shutting down of industrial plants and other works.

On the other hand, the maintaining of world-wide equilibrium of fair prices, and consequent profit to the farmer will enable the latter to pay a portion of his accumulated debts and thus ease the financial situation all along the line and restore to restore confidence and re-establish credit.

Human Labor is Rapidly Giving Place to Machinery

To make 100 pairs of women's shoes he takes 1,025 hours, but making 100 pairs by machine requires only 90 hours. A machine-driven saw makes as many pine boards in 272 hours as can be sawn out by hand in 16,000 hours. We are headed in that direction. The modern human labor will be making machines and keeping them adjusted while running. The machine is the modern slave. In effect, each of us has many of these slaves working for us. British Official Was Head of Survey Department in India

It is surprising to learn that the man whose name was given to the highest mountain in the world lived so recently that he is still alive. It is apt to think of the names of men as they were of immemorial antiquity. Yet it was only in 1864 that this mountain was named after him. He was a native of Britain who afterwards became Sir George Everest. It was called in Tibetan, the language of the district in which it lies, Jomo-Kang-Kar, or Chomolung-ma, no one quite knew which.

Sir George Everest was head of the Indian survey, a department concerned with mapping the whole country. He was so exacting in his work that when he was once on holiday at the Cape, he examined into the survey of that colony as it was then, and discovered mistakes which made it necessary to make a fresh survey.

Overworked Nerves

The Most Successful Treatment Is Through the Blood

The early stages of nervous debility are noted by restlessness and irritability in which the victim seems to be possessed by them. The trouble, however, causes symptoms: a tired feeling; weakness in the muscles; headache; backaches and stiffnesses. The master requires immediate attention to prevent a complete breakdown.

The nervous system governs the body and its functions. This is the reason that the nervous system is so important. It is the nerves that carry the messages from the brain, so that it is not surprising that nervous disturbances are the most common complaint of this kind. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are well known to treat this disease, for these pills are richly charged with the elements on which the nerve thrives, and in this way reach the brain and the spinal cord.

This is the secret of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a trial, and soon you will find that they are a real deal of good. She complained of pains in the stomach, and a severe weakness. Under the use of these pills she continued to gain, and her health improved.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at $5.00 a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brooklyn, N.Y.

The Problem Of The Mentally Defective

Grave Social Menace That is Not Properly Understood

The mentally defective constitute no small fraction of the population, and are more numerous than social problems. This fact is all too little understood and appreciated.

It is usually estimated that from 1½ to 2 per cent of the population are below the mental average. On the basis there are in Canada from 135,000 to 180,000 of these unfortunate. Some are idiots, utterly helpless and unable to care for themselves. Others are imbeciles, grade brutes and savages, but, though unable to support themselves, and requiring constant oversight and protection. Between the imbecile and the normal, the much larger proportion who however, though not easily detected constitute the greater menace. After they reach adult years they remain mere children in mentality and self-control, yet possess strong sexual passions, propensities and desires of adults.

It is easy to see what a menace this combination constitutes, to themselves and to the community.

The mentally defective are unusually strong, and they have neither mental vision to foresee the consequences of indulgence, nor moral self-control to govern their passions. They may pull twice as fast as the able, and always require their own kind and this quite regardless of whether they are married or not. In the Board of Education office in Vancouver, the author has seen a picture of a young woman now in her twenties, is the illegitimate mother of five children all feeble-minded. Fourteen defective, each one a solid problem, from the cradle stage that should never have been allowed.

It is estimated by those best qualified to judge that two-thirds of all prostitution is due to feeble-mindedness. There are also large areas of the country where the children of marriage have feeble-minded mothers. These women living in promiscuous sexual indulgence soon develop venereal diseases and all other malignant diseases, and all of them are abnormals.

Many of these young men who afterwards marry, and infect their innocent wives, and pass on the dread heritage of these terrible diseases to their offspring. It is estimated that about thirty-fourty per cent of venereal disease is due to this cause.

At least 90 per cent of all criminal acts are committed by these unfortunate. Their uncontrollable impulses lead to assault, common or indecent, to incendiarism, to murder, to burglary and to the demolition of children of both sexes.

Many of the epidemic vice in schools is due to a small group of feeble-minded girls or boys or both. Girls, especially boys, are easily led into vice, and the rapidly increase. Minded, that is to say, ones that will cure these youths for years if not for life.

It is false economy not to provide for the care, training or re-education of these individuals. A large amount of money is required to maintain them.

Grow Your Own Fuel

Prarie Tree Being Declared to Be Profitable

Prairie provinces have a means of producing some fuel against fuel shortage by growing fuel on their own farms is supplied in a report received from the Prairie Forest Nurses Institute, Hadley, Sask. On a acre of soil measuring a little more than one acre, 13 acres of fall firewood have been grown in eight years from Russian poplar cuttings. The plant grows quickly and yields 10 cords per annum, which valued at $16 per cord would give a revenue of $16 per acre for every three trees were left growing.

Setting forth these facts the Canadian Forestry Association remarks that much western wheat land is not producing 16 pen acre annually, and that by liberal tree planting, prairie farmers can both transform their home conditions and increase farm produce.

All agriculturists can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator to give relief. Its effects are sure and lasting.

Wireless Underground

Used as Means of Communication in British Coal Mine

Although wireless telegraphy has been used so largely on the surface and the air, very little has hitherto been done to utilize it in their underground communication, underground.

The experiments in this direction are illustrated in a very interesting fashion by experiments recently made in England.

An aerial was set up in an underground tunnel a quarter of a mile distant in every direction from the open. With quite a small apparatus signals were heard from a number of high-power transmitting stations, including the large station near Berlin.

Industry In U. S. Is Becoming Paralyzed Through Coal Strike

Detroit.—One hundred and five hundred thousand men of the Ford Motor Company throughout the country will be without jobs after September 16. In addition, several hundred thousand other workers employed in industries furnishing materials for the Ford plant in Detroit will lose their jobs. Henry Ford gave those figures Saturday in announcing that his three big motor plants located in Detroit suburbs and his assembling plants throughout the country would close on that date because of the coal shortage.

The announcement was the most severe blow that industrial Detroit has suffered since the industry's decline of two or three years. It means, according to Mr. Ford, that 75,000 men employed in the Highland Park, River Rouge, and Dearborn plants of the company here will be without work.

Thirty thousand others now working in the various assembling plants scattered throughout the country also will be thrown out of employment. How long the machinery in the Ford plant is to be held will depend entirely on the coal supply. If the strike continues, the Detroit manufacturer said,

The price of steel and other materials has declined from the decision to suspend coal shipments, but it is believed that he had received no news of an advance in steel prices, to be made shortly. Industry in the United States must "throw up its hands in surrender" a few weeks if the rail and coal strikes continue, Mr. Ford declared.

Mr. Ford held financial interests responsible for the industrial tete-a-tete, declaring the "greedy barons" were manipulating the market. He said that public officials still engaged in nationalistic policies, which were, in his opinion, responsible for the crisis. The deadlock in strike negotiations indicated, he declared, the existence of "a plot to bring down the government and overthrow railroads on the part of the oil, coal, and steel trusts."

National Loss Is Suffered By Ireland In Death Of Collins

London.—The death of Michael Collins, who has fallen in actual combat with the rebels as one of the first victims of the substitute plan of guerrilla warfare for organized revolution, has increased the gloom surrounding the British public far more than did even the death of Arthur Griffith, while the circumstances of his death fighting against rebels odds in a carefully prepared ambush during the summer as an instance of the Irish position around Cork, adds to the halo surrounding his lauded death.

His daring and his personal attractiveness, combined with his adventurous career and his record as a courageous fighter, as well as a president administrator, helped to give him prominence and importance in the public eye, which was not shared by any other man in Ireland. Mr. Collins, who was little known to the British people, as whose retiring nature did not lend itself to public demonstrations.

The British press is filled with epithets, personal epithets, and of the like which escape the commando chief, together with tributes to his loyalty in carrying out the conditions of the treaty he signed with Great Britain, and with which he left all, who were within hearing to the British people, as whose retiring nature did not lend itself to public demonstrations.

Lord Chancellor Birkenhead, Winston Churchill and Viscount Piraten were among the men prominent in British public life who have sent messages of sympathy to Mr. Cosgrave, sympathizing with the Free State Government in its loss.

To Assist Farmers

Saskatchewan Premier Has Possible Market to Prevent Glutting Wheat

Regina, Sask.—A concrete suggestion outlining the method which might be adopted by the banks to prevent the glutting of the wheat market and a consequent depression in prices was telegraphed to Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, by Premier C. C. Diefenbaker.

Pointing out that the banks stand "at the base of the pyramid of credit," Mr. Dunning suggested that "if they could devise means of extending their credit, and make it available from all creditors, to enable more gradual liquidation," he feels sure that the effect would be felt through all classes of creditors "down to the farmers and probably prevent slavish sale of wheat prices."

Mr. Dunning pointed out that merchants as well as farmers stand creditors to the banks in considerable amounts and in order to prevent the glutting of the wheat market and a consequent depression in prices, he feels sure that the effect would be felt through all classes of creditors "down to the farmers and probably prevent slavish sale of wheat prices."

The telegram to Premier MacKenzie King, follows the message by Mr. Dunning, of a communication from Sir Frederick Williams Taylor, representative of the Canadian Bankers' Association, which Sir Frederick announces that the banks will furnish "all proper banking accommodation to care for the year's crop," coupled with his personal assurance that "the banks will show the farmers every proper consideration, being deeply interested in the welfare of their customers and the prosperity of your province."

Gompers Speaks at Montreal

Veteran President of American Federation of Labor Addresses Meeting

Montreal.—War's evils, international unionism's virtues, the conspiracies of employers and their associations, and the "solidities" of the British and United States Governments, were the keynote of fraternal delegates addressed to the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress at its only annual meeting.

Samuel Gompers, veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, who was introduced by Tom Moore, President of the Congress, as "a man whose years of service as a leader of organized labor are greater than the ages of many delegates here," pleaded the cause of the international trades unions.

Employers, said, cared little whether their employees were Protestant Roman Catholics, Jews, Indians or negroes, as long as they remained apart and worked cheap. Labor should then take its lesson and organize heedless of creeds or race.

No new lines of policy are contemplated. Schemes for development await the definition of the relations between the Free State and all efforts of the Free State Government will be directed towards establishing the new state firmly in accordance with the terms of the Anglo-Irish Treaty.

A Fight for 15 minutes with an eight foot Blue Racer Snake

George Baker, employed on the road near Canonia, Mich., fought for 15 minutes with an eight foot blue racer snake before he finally killed it. Once the snake wound himself around Baker's arm, he knocked it to the pavement with such force as to stun it and then killed it with the club.

A Diamond Mine

A diamond mine yielding cut and mounted gems was uncovered in Illinois. Its discoverer was Albert Bartels, a farmer near Elgin. While excavating for the foundation of a new barn he unearthed a stock of diamond rings. There were 97 rings with 137 stones. Gem experts estimate the stones to be worth $12,000. There were no identifying marks.

Six Months For Treasurer of Municipality

Robert Gardiner Guilty of Criminal Negligence Rather Than Criminal Intent

Brought up for deferred sentence before Judge Jackson on Thursday morning 7th September, Robert Gardiner, formerly secretary-Treasurer of the Flowery Plains Municipality, Strikton, was sentenced to six months imprisonment, with hard labor, in the Lethbridge jail. In passing sentence His Honor took the view that accused was not guilty of criminal intent but of criminal negligence, yet, none the less, he was guilty of a crime. He felt that the report that he was of a lazy disposition led to the embarrassment in which he found himself in regard to the state to which the accounts of the Municipality had got. On his own admission he had taken money from the treasury and had spent it, unable to replace it, but in his attempt to cover the deficit during a period of two to three years he had not informed the matter to the Municipality.

His Honor was of the opinion that a good deal of the trouble was caused by the lack of knowledge of bookkeeping methods. Some persons have been blamed for the complicated method, in vague regard to road work, seed grain, relief, and etc. He had received petitions for leniency in regard to the accused, signed by those in the municipality who were penalized in the default of $2000 made by the accused. He was not satisfied that the accused used the money for his own purposes. The default was the result of ignorance and criminal neglect as the militiamen were not able to say that the sum short was intentionally diverted to his use by the accused.

A plea from Mr. S.J. Shepherd, K.C. that the prisoner's sentence should be counted from the day on which he was in custody, was not considered by His Honor, as he felt that the sentence imposed was already a light one.

Selling Spoiled Eggs

Successful prosecutions of merchants who have been evading the regulations with respect to the sale of eggs unfit for consumption, have been conducted recently by the poultry branch of the provincial government. Prosecution was undertaken against the Miller Trading Co., of Vegreville, and after a lengthy hearing, during which much contradictory evidence was given by witnesses for the defence, a fine of $50 and costs, the maximum amount of fine that was imposed by Magistrate McIntrye. Another charge laid against Nick Kerby, who keeps a store at Vegreville. He was fined $5 and costs. The officials of the poultry branch of the department of agriculture are determined to enforce the regulations with respect to marketing of bad eggs, and where necessary, are ready to take action similar to that recorded.

Listed Land Is Proof Against The High Winds

Listing of land as a preventive of soil

drift has been "remarkably successful" on the Lethbridge Northern project, according to Chief Engineers H. B. Mackleton. Land listed by the district to protect their irrigation works, remained undamaged during the high wind of the past few days, while unlisted land adjoining has blown terribly.

Thus what Prof. Jardine of Kansas to the farmers of Southern Alberta three years ago, that listing solved the soil drift problem in his state, has been again demonstrated to be true. Mr. Mackleton told of the listing done in the Newland school district. The land had been ridged by a regular lister, put down, comparatively deep and the furrows are about 18 inches apart. This process threw up to the surface substantial cloths, eliminating the soil drift, found to be wholly undesirable in this climate. To the west the listed lands are covered with vegetation, which will tie the soil together putting it in and naturally tend to stop it from drifting. The experiment has worked out decidedly successful, according to the chief engineer, and has entirely solved the problem of the irrigation district involving the filling of ditch lateral ends and by the cloth forth moving before the wind from adjacent farm lands.

Listing is a soil treatment that has much to commend it. Not only does it give the acreage a ridged surface as a safeguard against ready drifting, but it also supplies furrows for the lodgement of snow and moisture. In this way the conservation of moisture is substantially increased. During the winter months it has been found that water runs quickly away into the ground.

The success of the Lethbridge Northern Irrigation district with the latter may be seen by anyone from far away who cares to take the time and to investigate. It is convincing evidence of the value of the Kansas method in this country.
